

AN AFFAIR TO REMEMBER

Valentine's Day Gala In Support Of The Queen Sirikit Centre For Breast Cancer

Tired of the same old 'table for two' on Valentine's Day? Looking for a fun and entertaining evening instead? Four Seasons Hotel Bangkok is proud to host the 1st Annual Valentine's Day Gala in support of the Queen Sirikit Centre for Breast Cancer. The lavish black-tie dinner-dance will give Romeos the chance to woo their Juliets in grand style while supporting a worthy cause at the same time.

Turning traditional Valentine's Day customs around, the gala invites couples or singles to join friends for an evening of exquisite food and dancing. The elegant black-tie theme will appeal to all who like to impress their Valentine.

Tickets to the event are THB10,000 per couple all inclusive or THB45,000 for a table of ten. The evening begins with cocktails at 7pm on the ballroom terrace followed by the five course dinner with wines in the newly renovated ballroom. A live performance by Thailand champion ballroom dancers will open the dance floor to all couples. One lucky couple will win a trip to Paris, the 'City of Lights' including roundtrip airline tickets on Etihad and a stay at the legendary Four Seasons Hotel George V Paris. A silent auction will offer some 'sweet valentine' option for your loved one.

For those who like to extend the evening, the Hotel offers a special overnight package for ticket holders at THB8,000 per room (plus tax and service charge) including the famous Four Seasons Sunday brunch the next morning . Special suite packages are also available.

All proceeds from the event will go directly to the Queen Sirikit Centre for Breast Cancer to raise funds for a new pathology lab, the future of breast cancer diagnosis and treatment.

About the Queen Sirikit Centre

The Queen Sirikit Centre for Breast Cancer at King Chulalongkorn Hospital, Thai Red Cross Society, was founded and now led by director Dr Kris Chatamra F.R.C.S. [Eng.], M.D.[London], On June 11 2005 Her Majesty the Queen, the patron and Princess Sirindhorn opened the first phase of the centre. The centre aims to be a 'sanctuary for all women in need' as Her Majesty the Queen requested. All funds for equipment, slum outreach and staff training have been raised privately so that no burden is placed upon the hospital's already stretched budget. The centre is primarily for underprivileged women offering the most modern approach to care diagnostically and therapeutically. In addition the team also goes out to 12 slum communities to offer breast cancer awareness education followed by free mammography, ultrasound and treatment at the centre to very poorest. The Queen Sirikit Centre for Breast Cancer uses the most modern diagnostic and therapeutic equipment alongside a philosophy of patient centered care. The centre carries out clinical research and places an emphasis on teaching young medical and nursing staff nationally.
